

ABSTRACT

A composite material is a Mo-Cu based composite material having a Cu content of 30 to 70 weight % and containing a copper pool phase and an Mo-Cu based composite phase. The copper pool phase is contained in an amount of 10-50 weight %. A heat-sink member uses the composite material.